Using Your PSAT/NMSQT® Scores to Increase College Readiness

SOAR High School Parent Presentation

Purpose of Presentation

The lesson is divided into sections,

Section one: the online reporting portal

Section two: the paper score report

Section three: additional college planning resources

The purpose of this lesson is to support educators as they review PSAT/NMSQT scores and reports with students.

- The lesson can be used with your students in a computer lab, leading them through the online reports and resources available to students when they log in to their College Board account.
- The lesson also takes the students through their paper score report step by step, explaining each section of the report and the scores students receive.
- In addition, this lesson shares college planning resources with students to help them investigate colleges, majors, and their own interests on the path to college readiness.

Using Your PSAT/NMSQT[®] Scores to Increase College Readiness

Get to Know the PSAT/NMSQT[®]

- The PSAT/NMSQT is highly relevant to your future success because it focuses on the skills and knowledge at the heart of your education. It measures:
 - What you learn in high school
 - What you need to succeed in college
- The PSAT/NMSQT measures reading, writing and language, and math skills developed over many years.
- The PSAT/NMSQT does not ask for facts from literature, history, or science, or for recall of math formulas, because it measures your reasoning and critical thinking skills.
- You don't have to discover secret tricks or cram the night before.
- There is no penalty for guessing.
- The test length is 2 hours, 45 minutes.

What Are the Benefits of Taking the PSAT/NMSQT®?

- Prepare for the SAT®
- Get free, personalized Official SAT Practice on Khan Academy®
- Start getting ready for college with college and career planning tools
- Enter the National Merit® Scholarship Program
- Get admission and financial aid information from colleges

How Will I Do on the SAT Next Year?

The predicted SAT® score is an initial projection based on current data.

How Did My Score Measure Against the Benchmarks?

Section, test, and subscores all report scores in performance zones that indicate whether you are on track for meeting the college readiness benchmarks on the SAT®.

Section scores

Need to Strengthen Skills = below grade-level benchmark by more than one year

Approaching Benchmark = below grade-level benchmark by one year or less

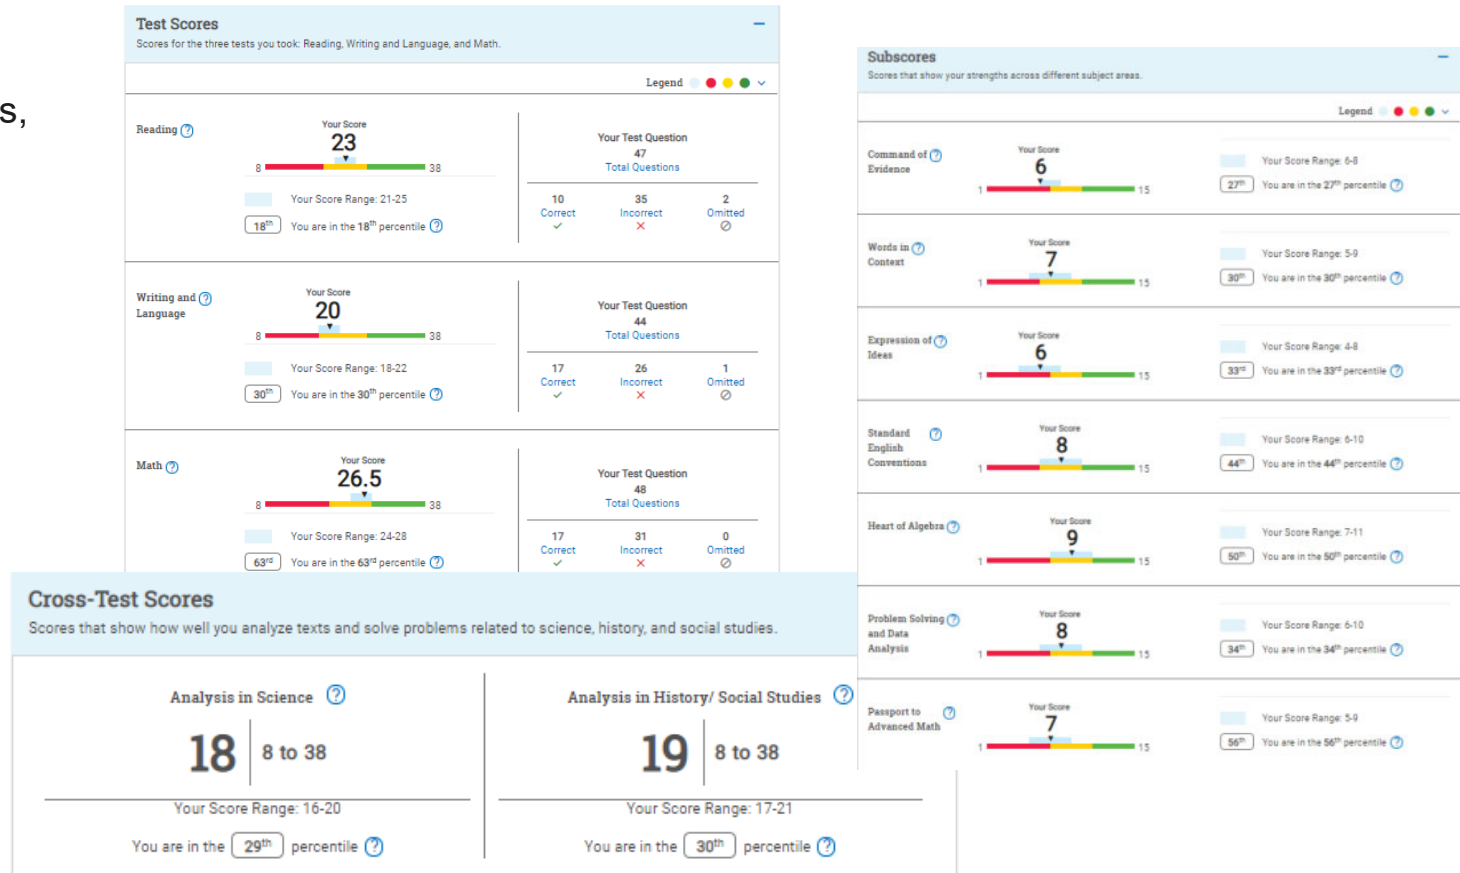

Meets or Exceeds Benchmark = at or above grade-level benchmark

Test scores and subscores

Red, yellow, and green ranges reflect areas of strengths and weaknesses compared to the typical performance of students.

What Do My Scores Tell Me?

Test scores, cross-test scores, and subscores give students insightful information about their strengths and areas for improvement.

How Can I Improve My Academic Skills?

Skills Insight™ informs you about what you are already likely able to do, and how you can improve your skills.

The screenshot shows the "Student Score Reports" interface for the PSAT/NMSQT. The page has a blue header with navigation links: "My Score Reports", "Score Sends", "AP Potential", "End Demo", and "Help". Below the header, the main title "PSAT/NMSQT" is displayed, along with the date "October 9, 2018" and "11th Grade". A "Download Your Score Report" button is visible. The navigation tabs include "Score Overview", "Score Details", "Test Questions", "Skills Insight" (which is circled in orange), and "NMSC Selection Index".

The "Skills Insight" section is titled "Skills Insight is designed to help students gain a better understanding of how scores relate to specific academic skills. It offers descriptions of performance and insight into skills measured at each score band. It also provides actionable suggestions for improving skills that help students gain additional practice. For a deeper analysis and personalized practice recommendations, link your score to the free official SAT practice on Khan Academy®."

The section is divided into three columns: "Reading", "Writing and Language", and "Math". The "Reading" column shows a score of 23 on a scale from 8 to 38, with a corresponding bar chart. The "Writing and Language" column is titled "Your score indicates that you are likely able to:" and lists three bullet points:

- Read a moderately challenging passage closely to draw a reasonable inference
- Locate data or make a straightforward accurate interpretation of data in an informational graphic, such as a table, graph, or chart (e.g., comparing the sizes of numerous bars; determining which of two lines, each revealing a clear trend, represents a generally higher value)
- Determine the best textual evidence for an inference when both evidence and inference are relatively obvious and direct (e.g., a clearly stated fact as evidence for a simple inference)

The "Math" column is titled "Improve your skills by focusing on the following suggestions:" and lists two bullet points:

- Spend time reading complex texts. These are texts that can be difficult to understand at first because their information, ideas, structure, purpose, and language are likely to be challenging, may be unfamiliar, and will require careful analysis. Read these texts closely and purposefully, rereading as necessary, and focus on identifying key information that is stated directly in the texts. Then, think about what reasonable inferences you can draw from the texts.
- As you read multiple complex texts on the same topic, look for similarities and differences in how authors present information or ideas. For example, you may notice that one author stresses the importance of a historical event that other authors downplay or takes a particular stance that differs markedly from that of most other authors. (Whether

Reading: Question 1

This passage is adapted from Jane Austen, Emma, originally published in 1815.

Line Emma Woodhouse, handsome, clever, and rich, with a comfortable home and happy disposition, seemed to unite some of the best blessings of existence, and had lived nearly twenty-one years in the world with very little to distress or vex her.

She was the youngest of the two daughters of a most affectionate, indulgent father, and had, in consequence of her sister's marriage, been mistress of his house from a very early period. Her mother had died too long ago for her to have more than an indistinct remembrance of her caresses, and her place had been supplied by an excellent woman as governess, who had fallen little short of a mother in affection.

Sixteen years had Miss Taylor been in Mr. Woodhouse's family, less as a governess than a friend, very fond of both daughters, but particularly of Emma. Between them it was more the intimacy of sisters. Even before Miss Taylor had ceased to hold the nominal office of governess, the mildness of her temper had hardly allowed her to impose any restraint, and the shadow of authority being now long passed away, they had been living together as friend and friend very mutually attached, and Emma doing just what she liked, highly esteeming Miss Taylor's judgment, but directed chiefly by her own.

The real evils indeed of Emma's situation were the power of having rather too much her own way, and a disposition to think a little too well of herself; these were the disadvantages which threatened alloy to her many enjoyments. The danger, however, was at present so unperceived, that they did not by any means rank as misfortunes with her.

Sorrow came—a gentle sorrow—but not at all in the shape of any disagreeable consciousness. Miss Taylor married. It was Miss Taylor's loss which first brought grief. It was on the wedding-day of this beloved friend that Emma first sat in mournful thought of any

View Answer and Explanation

You selected answer A, which is correct. Nice job!

✓ A. describe a main character and a significant change in her life.
B. provide an overview of a family and a nearby neighbor.
C. discuss some regrettable personality flaws in a main character.
D. explain the relationship between a main character and her father.

Choice A is the best answer. Emma Woodhouse's life and family are discussed, including the marriage of her governess Miss Taylor who then moves out of Emma's home. In sentence 1 of paragraph 7, Emma wonders how she is to "bear the change" of Miss Taylor's departure, which indicates its significance.

Check the level of difficulty of each question and the related subscores and cross-test scores.

Look at the types of questions answered incorrectly and skipped and consider the following:

- Identify the level of difficulty. How many questions did I miss at each level?
- Was I more likely to skip questions associated with any particular subscore or cross-test score?
- What inferences can I make about areas for improvement based on the types of questions I missed and skipped?

The screenshot shows the BigFuture website. At the top, there's a navigation bar with the CollegeBoard logo, the BigFuture title, a user profile for 'Woodrow', and a search bar. Below the navigation bar, the BigFuture logo is on the left, and a menu with links like 'Get Started', 'Find Colleges', 'Explore Careers', 'Pay for College', and 'Get In' is on the right. The main content area has a green background with the text 'There are more than 2,000 colleges in the United States.' followed by the bold heading 'Find the right college for you.' Below this, there are two search options: 'Filter by location, major, and more.' with a blue 'Search for colleges' button, and 'Already have a school in mind?' with a 'Look up a college by name' input field and a search icon. At the bottom of the green section, it says 'Not sure where to start? Figure out what's important to you.' with a link to 'Use our step-by-step guide'. Below the green section, there's a white section with the heading 'Planning for college doesn't have to be stressful.' and the text 'Our tools can help you find the right school for you.'

Roadtrip Nation and College Board have partnered to help students connect with careers.

- Choose your core interests.
- Watch videos of leaders who share your interests.
- Learn about majors and careers that align to your interests.
- See examples of leaders who followed a similar path.

Connects students with information about educational and financial aid opportunities.

Student Search Service®

- Participate voluntarily.
- Connect with more than 1,200 colleges, universities, scholarship programs, and educational organizations.
- Sign up when you take an assessment in the SAT® Suite:
 1. Choose to participate in Student Search Service when registering for a College Board test (fill in the circle on the answer sheet).
 2. Provide information about yourself on your answer sheet.
 3. Participating organizations can then search for groups of students who may be a good fit.
 4. FYI: The College Board never shares information on disabilities, parental education, self-reported parental income, Social Security numbers, phone numbers, or actual test scores through Student Search Service.

Thank
You.
